After "The Early History of the Gie Family" was completed a research worker in Paris sent me some further interesting information about the origin of the name "Guizelle de la Haye".

In addition I have obtained from some early records the site in Cape Town on which the first settler had his home and which remained the home for over four generations of the Gie family.

These last two matters should have been included in the "Early History of the Gie Family" but will now be inserted at the beginning of Volume II, as an addendum to Volume I.
